UN Regional Summaries

The 193 UN Member States are grouped into 22 geographic regions. Below are one-page overviews for each region, aggregating the RTLDI metrics. For each region we show a choropleth of enclosure strength (R) for its member countries (zoomed to the region using the same Viridis scale as the global map), key aggregates (population-weighted average R, total annual capital exclusions), and a breakdown of the 9 RTLP indicators. The breakdown reports the percentage of countries in the region scoring 'Yes' on each indicator and the estimated portion of the region's total capital exclusions attributable to shortfalls on that indicator (using the current η=0.30 scaled by each country's contextual 25% cap).

Regional statistics are derived directly from the per-country 2026 atlas values (with the 25% contextual cap applied). Regions with the largest capital exclusions are shown first.

UN REGIONAL SUMMARY

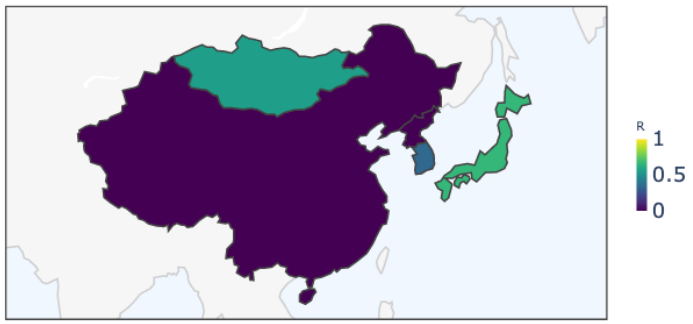

Eastern Asia

COUNTRIES	POPULATION	WEIGHTED R	CAPITAL EXCLUSIONS
5	1,614.7m	0.06	$5,467.0B

The Eastern Asia region has a population-weighted average RTLP score of 0.06. This cumulative measure indicates that, across its 5 member countries, roughly 6% of the nine core protections are in place on average, corresponding to an estimated $5,466.96 billion in capital exclusions (lost potential GDP) annually. The region demonstrates particular strength in Protection Against Arbitrary Detention, Access to Justice, where a substantial share of countries satisfy the binarization thresholds for those indicators. These protections represent opportunities to support greater economic scale for life and capital.

Strengthening the areas with lower implementation—especially Freedom from Torture and Inhumane Treatment, Socioeconomic Conditions—is associated with the largest opportunities for realizing additional scale in the region (after the 25% contextual bound). The cross-sectional association links stronger protections to greater economic scale of roughly $2,154.66 billion annually for the region as a whole (within the bound). Whether and how much of that association is realized depends on the other determinants of output (industry structure, resources, human capital, history) that the model explicitly accounts for by bounding the contribution of these nine factors.

The South America region has a population-weighted average RTLP score of 0.42. This cumulative measure indicates that, across its 12 member countries, roughly 42% of the nine core protections are in place on average, corresponding to an estimated $679.72 billion in capital exclusions (lost potential GDP) annually. The region demonstrates particular strength in Freedom of Expression and Whistleblower Protections, Protection Against Arbitrary Detention, where a substantial share of countries satisfy the binarization thresholds for those indicators. These protections represent opportunities to support greater economic scale for life and capital.

Strengthening the areas with lower implementation—especially Independent Judiciary, Freedom from Torture and Inhumane Treatment—is associated with the largest opportunities for realizing additional scale in the region (after the 25% contextual bound). The cross-sectional association links stronger protections to greater economic scale of roughly $388.17 billion annually for the region as a whole (within the bound). Whether and how much of that association is realized depends on the other determinants of output (industry structure, resources, human capital, history) that the model explicitly accounts for by bounding the contribution of these nine factors.

UN REGIONAL SUMMARY

Eastern Africa

COUNTRIES	POPULATION	WEIGHTED R	CAPITAL EXCLUSIONS
18	499.5m	0.24	$121.7B

The Eastern Africa region has a population-weighted average RTLP score of 0.24. This cumulative measure indicates that, across its 18 member countries, roughly 24% of the nine core protections are in place on average, corresponding to an estimated $121.70 billion in capital exclusions (lost potential GDP) annually. The region demonstrates particular strength in Protection Against Arbitrary Detention, Access to Justice, where a substantial share of countries satisfy the binarization thresholds for those indicators. These protections represent opportunities to support greater economic scale for life and capital.

Strengthening the areas with lower implementation—especially Freedom from Torture and Inhumane Treatment, Socioeconomic Conditions—is associated with the largest opportunities for realizing additional scale in the region (after the 25% contextual bound). The cross-sectional association links stronger protections to greater economic scale of roughly $56.56 billion annually for the region as a whole (within the bound). Whether and how much of that association is realized depends on the other determinants of output (industry structure, resources, human capital, history) that the model explicitly accounts for by bounding the contribution of these nine factors.

UN REGIONAL SUMMARY

Melanesia

COUNTRIES	POPULATION	WEIGHTED R	CAPITAL EXCLUSIONS
4	12.7m	0.36	$7.6B

The Melanesia region has a population-weighted average RTLP score of 0.36. This cumulative measure indicates that, across its 4 member countries, roughly 36% of the nine core protections are in place on average, corresponding to an estimated $7.62 billion in capital exclusions (lost potential GDP) annually. The region demonstrates particular strength in Protection Against Arbitrary Detention, Access to Justice, where a substantial share of countries satisfy the binarization thresholds for those indicators. These protections represent opportunities to support greater economic scale for life and capital.

Strengthening the areas with lower implementation—especially Freedom from Torture and Inhumane Treatment, Socioeconomic Conditions—is associated with the largest opportunities for realizing additional scale in the region (after the 25% contextual bound). The cross-sectional association links stronger protections to greater economic scale of roughly $4.05 billion annually for the region as a whole (within the bound). Whether and how much of that association is realized depends on the other determinants of output (industry structure, resources, human capital, history) that the model explicitly accounts for by bounding the contribution of these nine factors.

Mollweide projection (equal-area, same Viridis R scale as global choropleth).

UN REGIONAL SUMMARY

Polynesia

COUNTRIES	POPULATION	WEIGHTED R	CAPITAL EXCLUSIONS
4	0.3m	0.00	$0.5B

The Polynesia region has a population-weighted average RTLP score of 0.00. This cumulative measure indicates that, across its 4 member countries, roughly 0% of the nine core protections are in place on average, corresponding to an estimated $0.50 billion in capital exclusions (lost potential GDP) annually. The region demonstrates particular strength in several key areas, where a substantial share of countries satisfy the binarization thresholds for those indicators. These protections represent opportunities to support greater economic scale for life and capital.

Strengthening the areas with lower implementation—especially Freedom of Expression and Whistleblower Protections, Socioeconomic Conditions—is associated with the largest opportunities for realizing additional scale in the region (after the 25% contextual bound). The cross-sectional association links stronger protections to greater economic scale of roughly $0.17 billion annually for the region as a whole (within the bound). Whether and how much of that association is realized depends on the other determinants of output (industry structure, resources, human capital, history) that the model explicitly accounts for by bounding the contribution of these nine factors.

Micronesia

COUNTRIES	POPULATION	WEIGHTED R	CAPITAL EXCLUSIONS

The Micronesia region has a population-weighted average RTLP score of 0.05. This cumulative measure indicates that, across its 4 member countries, roughly 5% of the nine core protections are in place on average, corresponding to an estimated $0.34 billion in capital exclusions (lost potential GDP) annually. The region demonstrates particular strength in several key areas, where a substantial share of countries satisfy the binarization thresholds for those indicators. These protections represent opportunities to support greater economic scale for life and capital.

Strengthening the areas with lower implementation—especially Access to Justice, Freedom of Expression and Whistleblower Protections—is associated with the largest opportunities for realizing additional scale in the region (after the 25% contextual bound). The cross-sectional association links stronger protections to greater economic scale of roughly $0.12 billion annually for the region as a whole (within the bound). Whether and how much of that association is realized depends on the other determinants of output (industry structure, resources, human capital, history) that the model explicitly accounts for by bounding the contribution of these nine factors.
